Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

This is the first Office Action for the serial number 10/600,682, SYSTEM FOR MOUNTING A FLAT PANEL DISPLAY, filed on 6/20/03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4, 6-11, 13-14, 25 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US Patent # 6,484,944 to Hokugoh.

Hokugoh teaches a mounting system comprising a mounting plate (11) including a first surface portion and the mounting plate being adapted to mount to a supporting structure. The system includes a support arm (13,14, 57a-57b) including an outward extending radial flange (53) at a first end. The radial flange abuts the first surface portion of the mounting plate. The system includes a cover (15) including an aperture (61) and the cover is being affixed to the mounting plate with the radial flange disposed therebetween. The mounting plate and the cover being adapted to exert axial pressure on the radial flange to prevent the support arm from unwanted rotation relative to the mounting plate and the cover (col. 4, lines 33-37). The support arm having a second end that extends through the aperture. The first portion includes an elevated shoulder (23d). The support arm is rotatable about an axis relative to the mounting plate, the axis being defined by the radial flange. The axial pressure is adjustable. The support arm comprises an articulating arm (13), the articulating arm comprising at least one joint (43a). The articulating arm includes a first arm segment/flat panel display bracket (42, 42a) rotatably affixed to a second arm segment (41a) at the at least one joint. The mounting plate includes a second surface portion (bottom) including two or more mounting holes (24d) therethrough.

In regards to claim 3, Hokugoh teaches a mounting system comprising a mounting plate (11) including a first surface portion and the mounting plate being adapted to mount to a supporting structure. The system includes a support arm (13, 14, 57a-57b) including an outward extending radial flange (53) at a first end. The radial flange abuts the first surface portion of the mounting plate. The system includes a cover (15) including an aperture (61) and the cover is being affixed to the mounting plate with the radial flange disposed therebetween. The mounting plate and the cover being adapted to exert axial pressure on the radial flange to prevent the support arm from unwanted rotation relative to the mounting plate and the cover (section 0043). The support arm having a second end that extends through the aperture. The first portion includes an elevated shoulder (23d). The system includes a flat panel display bracket (13) rotatably affixed to the second end of the support arm.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 15 and 26-27 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 24 is allowed.

In regards to claims 15 and 26-27, the prior art fails to teach the combination with articulating arm comprises a first arm segment rotatably affixed to a second arm segment at the at least one joint. In regards to claim 24, the prior art fails to teach the flat panel display bracket rotatably affixed to a second of the arm segments.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-4, 6-11, 13-15 and 25-28 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
